

March 16. 1980 – star of this web site was born in Sarajevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina.

1992 – after the war has caught part of Former Yugoslavia, I moved to Belgrade, Serbia where I finished my elementary education

1995 – I move again, now to Durban, South Africa where I started my high school education, exploring art and experiencing different cultures that help me shape my perspective on life.

1996 – back in Belgrade where I'm enrolled in High School for Design and helping an artist (dear friend Charlie) in his studio where I'm realizing "This is it! This is what I'm breathing for! (or trying – considering lovely fumes of oil paint)

1997 – moving yet again to United States of America where I graduate from high school and after few years of searching for a good college finally moving to Seattle, Washington

2004 – years of frustration, searching; going through lots of paper and canvas I'm finally graduating with a BFA in Design/Illustration from Cornish College of the Arts.

Through out my whole life I've been involved in art world. Beside drawing and painting I have graduated from Music Elementary School (piano).I have worked as ballet, drama and art assistant on different projects focusing on children ages 3-15. My focus is oil painting (editorial illustration, children books ...)

I feel the next move is coming....where will I go next...time will show....so stayed tuned

Thank you,

Yours truly ArtistFoolio – Dunja Katarina Galic